

A WORLDWIDE NETWORK OF SHARED AIRCRAFT.

Imagine if a group of companies around the world got together and decided to share some very expensive assets. It sounds like the kind of idea that's right for today. NetJets has taken this concept and used it to drive down the cost of private aviation. Because you don't need a private jet all the time, but when you need it, you really need it. NetJets is a worldwide network of aircraft for CEOs who know that sometimes it's smart to share.

A pragmatic approach to private aviation:
You are guaranteed an aircraft whenever you need it, anywhere in the world.
You can fly as often or as little as you like. You only pay for the hours you use.
